Maths Week and NSPCC Non Uniform Day

Next week the children will enjoy problem solving and number based activities to immerse themselves in the joy of mathematics.

On Friday, 7th February the children can wear their own clothes and are encouraged to dress up as a number in celebration of Number Day. This could be a sports shirt with a number on the back or another item of clothing that includes a number or shape. We are asking for the children to bring in a donation of 50p. These proceeds will go to supporting the work of NSPCC.

This week's 'Congratulations' go to...

Ash Class—Aria, it has been a pleasure to see you grow in confidence throughout the year. You come into the classroom every day with a smile and have become a very independent learner—challenging yourself at every opportunity. Well done.

Elm Class—Nolan, you have amazed us this week with your fantastic writing about 'One Snowy Night'. You kept going until you had written about the whole story and you even got your golden pencil. Well done.

Oak Class—Stevie, you put 100% effort into everything you do at school and at home for your Tapestry challenges. You approach tasks with care and enthusiasm, and your creativity always shines.

Holly Class—Lawson, for your excellent writing this week. You have been carefully editing sentences to make sure that they have capital letters and full stops. We are proud of how your confidence is improving to write independently.

Hazel Class—Mason O, Mason shared some wonderful ideas when exploring cars from the past and present. He was able to compare the vehicles and asked great questions too.

Willow Class—Elsie, you have worked so hard in phonics. You are trying hard to read the words on sight. We are so proud of you.

Chestnut Class—Illyanna, you have been trying so hard in all your lessons recently, and we've been so impressed with your progress in phonics and your fantastic maths skills as we start multiplication. It's also lovely to see you joining in more by putting your hand up. Keep up the amazing work.

Hawthorn Class—Tommy-Lee, I've been so proud of you this week for showing fantastic listening skills, sitting sensibly on the carpet, and making valuable contributions to class discussions. Your hard work in maths has really paid off, and I love seeing your confidence grow.

Sycamore Class - Lashay, for your effort and hard work when we wrote our own stories about Rapunzel. You amazed me with your independence and resilience. Your story has adjectives, story language and I really enjoyed reading it.

Well done everyone!
