Working together to prevent the spread of common contagious conditions and illness

Research shows that personal hygiene is the most effective way to reduce the spread of both coughs and colds and sickness and diarrhoea, as well as hair lice and threadworms.

Encouraging children at school and at home to wash their hands regularly, especially after using the toilet, is key. School aims to support these good habits, as you do at home, and we know that young children are often in a rush, or thinking about what they are going to do next and so need lots of reminders for it to become second nature.

This week's 'Congratulations' go to...

Ash Class—Mason, we were very impressed with your writing this week. You were particularly focussed on your letter formation and tired so hard to keep your letters on the line.

Elm Class—Mia P, you worked so hard this week in PE, balancing on different body parts and working well as a team.

Oak Class—Annemary, for your great collage skills. You took your time to have a go at different techniques such as scrunching and layering to collage your tree.

Holly Class — Kaiyah-Rose, for amazing reading and phonics this week. We have noticed how hard you are trying and we are proud of your confidence when tackling tricky sounds and words. Keep it up.

Hazel Class – Lincoln, you have been showing your teachers much better listening ears and sharing with your friends in Hazel Class, we are so proud.

Willow Class — Aoife, we were so proud of your resilience in Art this week! You used your pencil pressure carefully to make light and dark tones in your drawing. You worked hard to create perspective in Lowry's picture.

Chestnut Class — Thomas E, for your enthusiasm in all subjects this week. You have completed all work with care, especially in writing. Your story about Robin Hood was a joy to read.

Hawthorn Class – Daisy, for her fantastic maths this week. Daisy was using subtraction to find the change from different amounts of money. Well done.

Sycamore Class - Miley, you are a delightful member of our class. You show all our school values, all of the time, thank you.

Well Done Everyone!
