Knowledge Prompt Sheets

This week your child has brought home the 'Knowledge Prompt' sheet for their current Enquiry theme (see thumbnails below)

Reception

As a parent they are a useful way of joining in with your child's learning and providing a link between your child's experiences at home and the work they do in school. Pin them up somewhere visible and use them to start off conversations about learning – as the learning journey progresses you may be impressed with how much your child can tell you about a subject!

This week's 'Congratulations' go to...

Ash Class – Sophia you have had another fantastic week. You listen so carefully to what is being asked and are always ready to share your own thoughts and ideas. Well done

Elm Class - Asher for being an absolute delight in elm class and a great role model for all. You are a great friend to everyone. Thank you

Oak Class - Harper for always challenging yourself in all areas around the classroom.

Holly Class – Imogen-Paige for you amazing maths this week. You have been using a tens frame to represent numbers and have given excellent reasons for your answers. Well done.

Hazel Class – George for always trying to be the very best he can be. He has worked really hard this week, listening carefully to any feedback from teachers and using it to improve his work. You are a super star. Well done.

Willow Class – Emma for always setting a good example to others in both her behaviour and enthusiasm for learning. We are very proud of you.

Chestnut Class – Brooke has been a determined mathematician this week she has been able to confidently explain her thinking and has been enthusiastic about joining chess club to further develop her skills.

Hawthorn Class – Nicholas for being such a kind friend. He always has excellent manners and shows kind hands, kind feet and kind lips.

Sycamore Class – Callum for always trying to be the best he can be. Even when he's not feeling 100% himself he tries hard and gives his all.

Well done to everyone!
