Our annual batch of Living Eggs arrived in school last week and we have 8 chick! Early Years children have been transfixed watching the eggs tremble and then crack until the tiny, wet chicks hatch. They then fluff up under their heat lamp and can be heard cheeping away happily with their brothers and sisters. Maybe ask your child to tell you about the hatching process.

Model Rednal –Invite for Year 1 families

We welcome Year 1 parents in school next Tuesday 28th March to view their Model Rednal display in the school hall from 3pm.

We look forward to welcoming Miss Ashton back to school next week following her maternity leave and the birth of her little boy, Freddie. Miss Ashton will be teaching in Nursery taking over from Mrs Aitkens who leaves us next Friday to have her second baby. We wish her all the best.

Class Assemblies—Thank you to Elm Class for their excellent assembly this week. They spoke confidently about their work and sang beautifully, and there was even an appearance from Ed Sheeran. We look forward to Chestnut Class assembly Wed 29th March.

We raised £239 for Comic Relief last week. Thank you very much.

This week's 'Congratulations' go to...

Ash Class – Illyanna, you have been particularly focussed this week. You have thought so carefully about what you want each picture, model or piece of writing to look like and have persevered until you have achieved what you set out to do. Well done.

Elm Class – Scarlett, for being a fantastic scientist this week and being able to talk about what she could see happening in experiments we have done. She is using lots of scientific vocabulary to recall what happened and is using this in her writing too. Well done.

Oak Class – Jasper, we are always so impressed with your general knowledge. You ask questions about how and why things work—a real scientist.

Holly Class – Reggie, for your skills and determination in DT this week. You have made a moving vehicle and included all the features. Your ideas were well thought out and creative. Well done.

Hazel Class – Bryson, you have amazed us with your perseverance when creating your vehicle. You followed your design and knew what items you needed to use to add extra detail to your model. You used the saw to cut the doweling and attached the wheels very carefully. Well done.

Willow Class – Amelie M, for demonstrating a responsible attitude towards your writing yesterday and completing the task independently. Well done and keep up the hard work.

Chestnut Class – Theo is a mathematician. He has impressed us this week with his reasoning skills and the way he can talk about the connections he has made.

Hawthorn Class – Riley is always a superstar. This week he has been looking around our school site to make sure there is no litter. He has been displaying a great sense of responsibility.

Sycamore Class – Trinity has impressed us with her fluent reading. Her confidence when tackling comprehension questions has really improved.

Well done everyone!
